INFORMATION PUBLISHED IN THE FACULTY OF SCIENCE REFERNDUM 2017

BACKGROUND

The Ryerson Science Society is a professional student-led organization that represents all undergraduate students within the Faculty of Science. The society's mandate supports three tenets: 1) Provide students with opportunities to gain professional experience and marketable skills; 2) Foster a strong science community at Ryerson through academic, professional and social engagement; and 3) Allocate available resources in an equitable, transparent and effective manner. This organization is similar in structure and purpose to the student societies in engineering, business, arts, architectural science, and communication and design.
